FOURTEEN SOULS WON FOR CHRIST

At the Revival Services Yesterday,
Which are Being Held at the Christian Church.

10 OTHERS JOINED BY LETTER

Evangelist Yeuell Will Have For His Subject Tonight "Man With His Hair Cut Short."

Twenty-four additions were made to the Main Street Christian church at the three services held yesterday. Ten young people confessed Christ at the Sunday school services, four came forward with letters from other churches at the morning service, and ten took the final step at the evening service, six of them bearing letters from other churches.

Evangelist Yeuell took for his text Sunday evening, "No Man Cares For My Soul." His sermon was characteristic of the ones preached previously, his wonderful personality seeming to go out to the audience with each word spoken. The immense congregation seemed to vibrate with him in every thought that he uttered, as he walked back and forth from one end of the platform to the other. Many people have the opinion that no man really does care for their souls, he said, when no one apparently takes any interest in them. But what is the case, asked the evangelist, when the hand of fate is raised against any person in this city? Does not the sympathy of the whole community extend to that unfortunate one? And the same thing is true of the human soul, he said, for when it is lost, Christ is all the more concerned.

The evangelist used as an illustration the terrible earthquakes that have occurred recently in San Francisco and Sicily, and had caused so much loss of property and life. He recalled to the minds of his audience how the people of all nations, especially of the United States, had responded to the call for help and had raised large amounts of money for the unfortunate people. And with all of this, how can a man say that no man cares for his soul, asked Mr. Yeuell, when it has been demonstrated that the whole human race is all one large family and are all interested in one another. But even if man did not care for your soul, said the evangelist, Christ is interested in your salvation and is ready to forgive your sins. At the end of the sermon, the minister made an earnest plea for sinners to come forward, ten responding to the invitation.

The first invitation of the protracted meetings which were begun at the Main Street Christian church last Thursday evening, was extended by Evangelist Yeuell at the Sunday school services, Sunday morning when ten young people came forward and confessed Christ. Mrs. Yeuell made a short talk in which she asked that all of the young women of the Sunday school meet next Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock when a chorus for the Sunday school would be organized.

At the regular services Sunday morning the second invitation of the meeting was extended and four joined the church by letter, two of them coming from Mays, one from Clarksburg and one from Brownsburg. The sermon delivered by Evangelist Yeuell was up to the standard of his former sermons which is indeed a high one. Much of his discourse was spent upon the subject of prayer, and usefulness. It was replete with illustrations, that were timely and helped much toward making his remarks to forcibly impress the audience. The evangelist brought out the fact that prayer is of no value unless the one who prays makes some sacrifice. Prayer must be fortified by good deeds, said Mr. Yeuell and if the individual is not willing to do something out of the ordinary, to brave the winter storms, to accomplish the things which really cost something, then they are wasted.

In speaking of the usefulness that may come from this life the minister said, the more put in, in many thousand fold would it return after death. Some old people are prone to step back and say "let the young people do those things as I have accomplished much in this life and think it time for me to allow others a chance." This is a mistake, said the evangelist, as no one is past usefulness and should do all within their power to advance the glory of God. If so many of us would not back out and allow others to do the work, think how many more souls would be saved, said Mr. Yeuell, and your period of usefulness should never end until taken from this earth, as there is always some good that you can do no matter how aged or how helpless.

Regular evangelistic services will be held every night this week with the exception of Friday and Saturday nights. On Friday night a special sermon will be given for the high school students, who are unable to attend through the week on account of their studies. On Saturday night, an illustrated lecture-sermon will be delivered on the subject, "Shipwrecks." The subject of the sermon tonight will be "Man With His Hair Cut Short."

CROWD CAME ON THEIR SPECIAL CAR

Connersville People Highly Pleased
With Evangelist Yeuell and the Singer Rogers.

IS BETTER THAN SCOVILLE

Fifty people from Connersville, headed by their pastor, Rev. Burkhardt, of the Christian church, came here Friday night on a special car to hear Evangelist Yeuell. They were pleased with the meeting, as is evidenced in the Connersville Courier.

A member of the party said to the Courier: "We received a hearty welcome and were well repaid. Yeuell is a rapid, forceful speaker. His text was 'Greet all the saints, chiefly those of the house of Caesar.' I really like him better than Scoville."

Elsworth Rogers, the singer, made a hit with the Connersville delegation. Mr. Rogers will lead the music in here when Yeuell comes.

FLORA STAMM IS DECLARED INSANE

By Lunacy Commission and Will be Taken to Richmond by the Sheriff Soon.

LEAVES FOUR YOUNG CHILDREN

The lunacy commission appointed by Squire Kratzer upon the recommendation of Dr. H. H. Elliott of Glenwood, who examined Mrs. Flora Stamm of Glenwood last Saturday morning, today returned the decision of insanity. The matter will now be placed in the hands of the county sheriff, who will take the demented woman to the insane asylum at Richmond in a short time.

Mrs. Stamm has attempted to take her own life several times by the use of carbolic acid, presumably on account of domestic troubles. She has been married seven years and leaves four young children in destitute circumstances.

THREE CASES IN JUVENILE COURT

Clarence Driver and Louis Bay Were Given a Hearing Saturday Morning.

PROBATE OFFICERS IN CHARGE

Minnie Shelton Before Juvenile Judge
Saturday Afternoon—Given
Ten Days' Probation.

The cases of Clarence Driver and Louis Bay were heard by Special Judge John A. Titsworth behind closed doors in the juvenile court on Saturday morning. Several witnesses were brought up to testify as to the good character of the Driver boy. Judge Titsworth made no decision in the cases, but placed the two children under the care of special probate officers. Clarence Driver was put under the direction of Carl Nipp, who is a member of the board of children's guardians, and will have to report to him of all his actions in the future. Louis Bay was put in charge of James Lock, who is also a member of the board of children's guardians, and will be watched carefully by Mr. Lock until their next trial.

The cases will be heard by Judge Will Sparks next Wednesday morning at nine o'clock. Two days will be set aside in each term of the circuit court to hear the cases, which come under the direction of the juvenile court. If the behavior of the two children is such that the probation officers can make satisfactory reports, it is probable that nothing will be done at this time.

Miss Minnie Shelton, who has been missing for several weeks, was located last Saturday and given a hearing before Judge Titsworth in the juvenile court Saturday afternoon. No decision was made in her case and she was placed in charge of Mrs. A. L. Stewart, for a period of ten days, when she will be given a hearing in the circuit court before Judge Sparks. The young woman will be under the immediate care of Mrs. Stewart, and will have to report to her at short intervals during her ten days' probation. Miss Shelton made a strong plea that she be allowed to go free and for this reason was given a chance to show that she was sincere. Her case is set for hearing on Wednesday morning, February 10.

EUGENE MILLER IN A SLIGHT QUAKE

Felt His Bed Rock and Thought at First That Some One Was Under It.

HIS PARENTS ARE PERTURBED.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Miller are somewhat perturbed and worried about the welfare of their son, Eugene Miller, who is traveling on the European continent. Like many others who have members of their families abroad, their fear is aroused on account of so many recent earthquake disturbances and disasters.

Young Miller who is now in Italy, wrote recently that while asleep one night he felt his bed rock and for a time thought someone was under it. But when he saw the table move about he soon comprehended the situation that it was caused by an earthquake shock. His parents may cable him to cut his proposed trip short.

LIQUOR FORCES FILE INJUNCTION

Enjoining the Board of Commissioners Not to Order Special Election.

GRANTED CHANGE OF VENUE

To Henry County and Are Given One Day in Which to Make the Change.

The liquor forces drew first blood today in the first slight skirmish on the eve of the battle for the special election under the county option law. W. W. Offutt filed an injunction enjoining the board of commissioners who were in regular session not to set the date on which a county option election should be held. An affidavit was then filed in the circuit court this afternoon by the attorneys for the liquor forces for a change of venue. The argument was heard by Judge Will Sparks and a change of venue was granted to Henry county. The attorneys filing the affidavit are only allowed one day to make the change of venue and are compelled to pay the costs. It is thought that the change of venue may cause some delay and may possibly put the county option election farther away than it was at first thought it would be.

In the injunction it is claimed that an election under the county option law and may possibly put the county option election farther away than it was at first thought it would be. The injunction quotes the law as saying that one freeholder and one of the petitioners shall be the judge as to the sufficiency of the petitioners. They also say in the injunction that the board of commissioners have no right to order a special election, because the law makes no provision for defraying the expenses of the special election. The complaint that the election will make extra taxation upon the taxpayers is taken in. In their final complaint they ask that a restraining order be issued which will keep the board of commissioners from ordering a special election.

SECOND FORGERY WAS DISCOVERED

Alonzo Jackson Forges Check For Today.

HIS FAMILY IS DESTITUTE

Alonzo Jackson, the Rush county forger confined in the Shelby county jail under sentence to from two to fourteen years in the Michigan City penitentiary, says the Shelbyville News, started northward with Sheriff John Butler on the 10:44 train this morning. Sheriff Butler will remain with his prisoner in Indianapolis tonight and Tuesday the doors of Indiana's prison will swing open for Jackson's entrance.

On Saturday a second forgery committed in Shelbyville Friday by Jackson was evidenced. O. L. Means, merchant, cashed a $30 check identical with the McCollum check. At the jail Saturday morning Jackson returned to him $26, all that remained of the money.

FEBRUARY TERM OPENED TODAY

The Day Was Spent in Making up Issues and Preparing the Docket.

SEVERAL CASES DISMISSED

The February term of the Rush circuit court opened today and will continue five weeks. The day was spent in making up issues and preparing the court docket for the term. Several cases were dismissed. Very few important ones have been entered during the vacation and the term as a whole will be mild compared with the last term of court, when the famous whitecapping trial occupied much of the time. The case of the State vs. Armstrong and the State vs. James Newsome are set for trial tomorrow.

LARGE CROWDS IN ATTENDANCE

At the Services Held at the First Presbyterian Church Yesterday.

CELEBRATED SINGER TONIGHT

Rev. L. O. Richmond Will Deliver the Sermon Tonight—Invitation to All.

The meetings in progress at the First Presbyterian church are to be continued through the week. Sabbath morning Rev. Cowling preached a very fine sermon on "The Personality and Work of the Holy Spirit." In the evening, he had as his theme, "Is There a Hell?" This much discussed subject was handled in a positive, direct and most convincing manner, forcing the one conclusion that, whatever the abode of the damned may be and whatever the nature and extent of their punishment hereafter, the memory never perishes, but lives on, and its remorseful reflections is "the worm that dieth not and the fire that is not quenched."

The special music by the choir was greatly enjoyed, especially a beautiful solo by Mr. Hale Pearsey at the morning service. There was a large attendance morning and evening and the same deep interest that characterized the week of prayer observance last week was manifested throughout the day.

Rev. L. O. Richmond, one of the strongest preachers in Whitewater Presbytery, will preach tonight. William J. Ramsay, the singing evangelist, came today from Chattanooga, Tenn., where a great meeting in which he was engaged, closed last night. Mr. Ramsay comes with recommendations of the strongest kind and will be heard for the first time tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Come and bring your friends.

HOME NEWS.

Of Interest to Everyone in Rushville.

In every newspaper in the country you will read statements made by people living in out-of-the-way places, who are supposed to have been cured or derived great benefit from some wonderful remedy or "cure-all." But here in Rushville we only publish statements made by Rushville people—the testimony of your friends, neighbors and fellow-townsmen.

Mrs. W. A. Wylie, 1029 North Sexton street, Rushville, Ind., says "My husband had typhoid fever and after recovering found that his kidneys were in a weakened condition. The secretions from these organs passed too frequently and caused him to arise many times during the night. His back was lame and ached a great deal and he suffered from frequent headaches. When he saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised he procured a box at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s drug store. They quickly corrected the kidney trouble, and restored strength to his back. The pain also left his back together with the headaches. Mr. Wylie thinks highly of Doan's Kidney Pills and is pleased to recommend them to other sufferers of kidney complaint."

REALIZE THAT TIME IS FLYING

Indiana Legislators See Need of Getting to Work.

MUCH PROMISED FOR THE WEEK

With a Full Realization That Much Valuable Time Has Been Frittered Away, Indiana Lawmakers Resumed Their Labors This Afternoon Determined to Catch Up With Accumulated Bills if Possible—Important Bills Made a Special Order for Tomorrow—Recent Local Option Elections Have Had a Powerful Influence on Sentiment in the Legislature.

Indianapolis, Feb. 1.—When the house and senate convened this afternoon at 2 o'clock after the usual Saturday and Sunday vacation, it was the understanding that there would be an early adjournment so that the committees could begin consideration of the big pile of bills that have been introduced. It is finally dawning on the members that time is flying and that there must be no more loafing if the business of the session is to be disposed of.

Behind in Its Work.

As a matter of fact, the present assembly is somewhat behind the average as far as its work is concerned and this is to be accounted for practically altogether by the fact that one branch of the assembly, the senate, is Republican, and the other branch and the governor are Democratic.

There were two special order bills in the senate this afternoon. One was the Mattingly bill regulating the construction of tenements. The other was the Grube bill providing for a naval branch of the state militia at Culver.

The house has two special orders to-morrow, as follows: Tuesday, 2 p. m., H. B. 176 (Sicks). Repealing the so-called "three-mile road law." Tuesday, 2 p. m., H. B. 3 (McGinnis). Same as the Mattingly senate bill regulating the construction of tenement houses.

The house will have some important matters for final action this week, according to present indications. The Sunday baseball bill and the county local option repeal bill will be up this week. In the case of the Sunday ball bill the house committee having it under consideration last week reported it favorably, and it has passed to third reading. The next time any action is taken will be when Speaker Honar will hand the measure down for third reading, when it will be placed on its passage.

Keeping Ears to Ground.

The Democrats of the house will hold a conference this evening for the further consideration of the county option question, but there is little hope that they will ever reach any agreement as to the ground upon which they will all be willing to stand. Those who believe that the county unit law should stand assert that they are perfectly willing to heed the call of their party and favor ward and township option, but if this is to be enacted they say, it must be in addition to the present laws and not as a substitute to them.

Another "batch" of elections under the county option law, held during last week, were watched with deep interest, and inasmuch as every election held so far (and several of them in Democratic counties) has gone "dry," they are expected to have a very great effect on the trend of legislation which is aimed to change or repeal the option law.

To Revive Crippled Law.

A question concerning which some thing is very likely to be done at this session is the question of an employers' liability act, and the senate committee on judiciary A will hold further meetings this week to attempt to agree upon the terms of a bill on the subject to be recommended. The senate is considering four bills, the Bland Beal, Mattingly and Kane bills, and each appears to have its friends in the senate as well as outside. For two years, since the supreme court held that Indiana's employers' liability law was bad, the state courts have operated under the common law rules governing such cases.

Much work is being done, also toward the framing of a public utilities bill, the Mattingly and Beal bills in the senate being used as a basis. In a general way it may be said that the bill as reported from the committee or corporations will give the state rail road commission power over all public service corporations. But the passage of such a measure while a possibility and even a probability, does not at this time appear to be anything like as certain as the passage of an employers' liability act.

Getting Ready for Supply Bills. The legislative visitation committee will expect to make its report in about another week and from the time of the making of this report until the end of the session the matter of appropriations will receive much attention. So far little has been done as to appropriations. A number have been suggested in bills, one for $500,000 for a state library.

Who Saw Lincoln?

Now that the Edgar Allen Poe centenary has passed, the hearts of a nation will turn to the centenary of one of the greatest men of all ages, Abraham Lincoln. A short time since, one of the magazines had a series of articles—and very interesting ones too—on "Those Who Knew Lincoln." Now there are in Rush county many men who saw the great Lincoln; some who saw him when they were being mustered out after the review of the troops at the close of the war and still quite another number who saw and heard Lincoln when he delivered an address in Indianapolis from the old Bates House balcony when he was enroute to Washington to be inaugurated President. The Daily Republican would like to have, if possible, the names of all persons in Rush county who saw Lincoln and under what circumstances they saw him. We would greatly appreciate if such parties would bring the information to this office before February 12, when the entire country would do honor to him it being the hundredth anniversary of his birth. We would surely appreciate a few letters from some of the older citizens, telling of the circumstances under which they saw or heard the martyred president, or how they happened to miss seeing him, in fact, any incident referring to Lincoln. We are ready to receive such information any time.

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

He was a lad of three years. At Christmas time Santa had remembered him with a sled on which an older member of the household was going to pull him about. When the snow came recently the lad was ill and could not venture out. As the thaw came and the snow left the boy's health returned. He stood at the window hour after hour, day after day, hoping the snow would come again. Yesterday when a few scattering snow flakes began to fall, the hopes of a good time began to rise in the breast of the little fellow. With glee he ran to his mama and had her get his sled in readiness. She told him he would probably have to wait sometime for sufficient snow for coasting. For half an hour he stood at the window with his happy little face against the pane, anticipating the joy of sledding that was to follow. Presently he let out a terrifying scream and his mother was soon at his side. The lad could not talk, but sobbed and cried hysterically as though his poor heart would break. Finally she got the story of explanation from his lips. He had seen a dog pass on the sidewalk with his nose along the ground, evidently tracing his master's tracks by scent. But the boy did not see it that way. He complained between sobs: "Mama, I want to go on sled and that big doggie he eat all the snow up."

ESSAY ON THE TIGHTWAD

This world is a success, fraternity is paramount, happiness is a reality, and charity is a ruling impulse because the TIGHTWAD is an exception and not the rule says the Connersville Courier.

If one-half the people in the world were tightwads, charitable institutions would fall to ruin, churches would cease to thrive, lodges would be broken up, love would no longer dominate human endeavor and the race, in short, would go to the how-ows.

Does the word "Tightwad" grate on your senses? We are aware that it is not very fastidious. We might have used a synonym with more grace, but we felt just as you will feel when the veneer of modesty is removed, that no other word can go to the spot as does this one.

Tightwad has a directness which its equivalent, greed, does not possess. There's a sting about it that is soothing and there's a certain, indefinable satisfaction in its bluntness. You have seen tightwads and you have regarded them only to loathe them. You cannot possibly resist hating the tightwad even though you recognize strong symptoms of a tendency of tightwadness in your own selfishness. There never was a tightwad that was not selfish. The potion that will reach and cure selfishness is also a specific for tightwaditis.

The tightwad exists by sufferance. He is endured simply because the "unwritten law" does not apply in his case. He is tolerated because there's no law against him. He lives by grace of the charity and magnanimity which he so cordially despises.

Here in Connersville we have known striking, intense examples of the opposite of the tightwad. He's a business man and he has money which the tightwad has, and happiness which the tightwad has not. This man at one time worked on a salary of nine hundred dollars a year. He had a soul interest in religion. He believed in laying up riches in heaven as he sought present comforts here on earth. This man's church, like many another church, needed money. It can always be assumed with perfect safety that the tightwad when the question of giving is put to him, will say that the church doesn't need money. Our nine-hundred-dollar man had no selfishness to excuse—no greed to apologize for. So he subscribed thirteen hundred dollars to the church.

And he made his word good by paying it.

The strange part of it all is that the generous man may live and die in our midst without our knowing a great deal about him, while the tightwad is known and recognized and hated on first sight. His badge is too big and ugly, and repulsive to be hid. He bears the mark, possibly as punishment, and if he is being punished, he ought to be pitied rather than execrated.

PUBLICITY WAS NECESSARY EVIL

Some Did Not Understand Motive in Publishing Stories of Juvenile Court.

THE INFLUENCE IT CARRIES

Many People Would Not Know That Such a Court Existed But For the Newspapers.

Some were prone to criticize the recent publicity given the juvenile court in the newspapers here and others were of the opinion that it was wrong but did not say anything. For that reason it might be well to define the position of this newspaper on that subject and if possible establish good grounds in support of the publication of same. In the first place it must be readily granted that the court, if properly conducted, can do a world of good, and with the people who are behind the court here—appointed by Judge Sparks—there is every reason to believe that it will be most successful. Unfortunately for those first caught in the net, it was almost necessary that their names be made public. People who are acquainted with many of them and know the circumstances under which they have been living. In this way, and only in this way, it is possible for the people to get an idea of the court's working and the good results that are to follow. It is by this method of publicity that is called to the attention of the general public and ever afterwards when they know of cases in need of attention, it would naturally follow that they would inform some of the members of the court whose names have been given due publicity. It is not the intention of this publication to go into detail with every case that is brought to the notice of the juvenile court; we well know the evil effects that public exposure usually has on youth.

Another phase of what publicity will do was exemplified in a conversation one heard among a crowd of small boys the other night. They were gathered about in front of the Vaudet theater and were discussing the juvenile court and its workings. One inquired what it was and what "difference" it would make to them. A smart little chap, from the tenderloin district gave answer:

"Well, I'll tell you what it amounts to. You see it's too expensive to get a lot of us kids up in the court house where they have lawyers and juries and a lot of officers to pay; and then we skip the mayor's court if we do anything because we are small and they don't want to monkey with us, but this juvenile court 'haint got nothing else to do but look after us. And while they are looking after such kids as me, I'm going to look after myself. Oh no, they don't get me. If you pull off any stunts now you can expect to land some place where they keep you until you are eighteen or twenty-one years old. None of that for mine."

The fear of punishment had its effects with that boy and as his word is generally considered gospel among that "gang" it is safe to say that his admonition had more effect for producing good than a sermon from a great preacher-orator.

It all resolves itself into one thing—it pays to advertise. William J. Bryan gave a very good definition of advertising recently that is applicable here. "The fellow who tries to attract business without advertising is like the fellow who throws his sweetheart a kiss in the darkness. He knows what he is doing but nobody else does."

PLUCKY WOMAN MAKES ROUNDS

Several Rural Route Carriers Turned Back Saturday, But Miss Flora Redman Never Stopped.

WAS TAKEN OUT OF SNOWDRIFT

Many of the rural route carriers were forced to turn back and not deliver their mail last Saturday on account of the heavy snowdrifts. George Aultman and Luther Downey both went out about two miles, when they had to turn back and come to the office. Miss Flora Redman, who is substituting on her father's route on account of his sickness, was not so easily overcome. She was fastened in large drifts of the "beautiful" several times, but with the assistance of some persons who happened to be passing, succeeded in extricating her horse and wagon and finally reached the postoffice several hours late.

NOW IS THE TIME TO FEED THE QUAIL

Birds Starving on Account of Snow-Crusted Ground—Farmers Must be Friendly.

FEED FEATHERED FRIENDS

"With a week more of this kind of weather," said a well known local sportsman today, "hundreds of quail will perish in the country for lack of food. The ground is in such a condition right now that it is impossible for the birds to get to any of their natural feeding places and they are beginning to starve already. Right now is the time for farmers who post their farms, to further protect the quail by putting out some feed, such as wheat and oats."

Many farmers feed the quail on their places regularly and the birds get so tame that they come to the barn yard just like chickens. This sort of winter is the worst of the year on them on account of the frozen snow, which keeps them from getting to the ground in search for the food.

NEW RULE HERE

Beginning February 1st, the Daily Republican will establish a new rule in the matter of publishing obituaries and cards of thanks. It has been found meet and proper that a small charge be made for such publications in the future. Nearly all the better class of papers make a charge and in fact most of the people that come into the office would rather pay than to feel like the publication of something concerning one near and dear to them was sort of an imposition.

Few people have any idea of the amount of time consumed in arranging and publishing an obituary and very few have the least conception of how much type is required for a lengthy write-up, supplemented with three or four stanzas of appropriate verse. Often they bring the notices in the office and if they do not appear forthwith in the next issue, they are prone to feel a bit offended.

To settle the question in a business like manner—and like it should be settled—the Daily Republican has fixed the following rates: Cards of thanks, 25 cents; obituaries, $3.25 a column, or in proportion for less than a column. Half-tone pictures with obituaries, $2 extra. This charge is not made anywhere near the regular advertising rate and is done with a full appreciation of the intent of the obituaries and in a spirit of charity in keeping with the intent and purpose.

STOLEN ANIMAL WAS RECOVERED

Horse Taken From Barn of Jonas Logan Sunday Night, Found in Franklin County.

NO CLUE TO THIEF WAS FOUND

The valuable horse belonging to John Markle and stolen from the barn of Jonas Logan in Richland township, Sunday night, January 24, was found in the possession of James Orford in Beuna Vista, Franklin county, Saturday morning by Officer Pea. Orford said that he saw the horse on the road near his home Wednesday morning as he was driving to Peppertown. On returning in the evening he saw the same horse and took him up and placed him in his barn. The $20 reward was given Orford and the animal was returned to its rightful owner.

The local officer first heard that the stolen horse was in the vicinity of Beuna Vista from William Coulter, living in Richland township. He soon located the animal and went after him Saturday morning. There is no doubt but that the horse was stolen because the wire fence in the back part of the farm had been cut down to allow the thieves to pass with their stolen property. But no clue can be found to the thief.

TITLES OF NOVELS FOUND IN BIBLE

Was Brought Out at Meeting of Mrs. May Donnan's Class Last Saturday.

IMPRESSED MANY WRITERS

Mrs. May W. Donnan's class met with Mrs. Pearson at the home of Mrs. Smelser on Saturday afternoon. The lesson was on the Wisdom books of the Bible and the imprint made by them upon other writers. The Old Testament books of Wisdom, Ecclesiastes, Job and Proverbs are the nearest approach to what we call philosophizing and apropos of the book of Ecclesiastes, which is almost entirely a speculation upon life.

Mrs. Donnan called attention to Matthew Arnold's Empedocles on Etna, The Buried Life, Down Beach, Samuel Johnson's The Vanity of Human Wishes, Amiel's Journal, The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam, and poems of Tennyson and Browning.

It is interesting to note how in all the poems referred to there is found the same speculation on the meaning of life as in Ecclesiastes, and the same summing up at the end that after all the questionings and doubtings and trials of other things than following God, the reality of life is to fear God.

Titles of many of our modern novels are found in Ecclesiastes. Mary E. Winkins gets her title, "The Portion of Labor; Gilbert Parker, "The Battle of the Strong;" Kipling's "Many Inventions;" Mrs. Wharton, "The House of Mirth;" Henry James "The Golden Bowl;" Chapter X suggests the epilogue to Henry Fifth; Chapter V contains something very like the invocation to sleep, found in Henry Fourth. The book is rich in literary suggestions.

The class will meet February 13 with Mrs. Joe Amos in North Main street.

THOUGHT THEY HAD FOUND TOM BATES

But Later Investigation Proved That the Man's Name Was Jackson.

RESEMBLED BATES SOMEWHAT

In making inquiries in the case of Thomas Bates, who has been missing from his home in Rushville since last Tuesday, the Courier coupled James Jackson who is now serving time in the county jail for intoxication, with Mr. Bates, as he answered the description of the missing man in various ways, says the Connersville Courier. It developed yesterday, however, that Jackson was not Bates and vice versa, for several citizens of the city who are acquainted with Bates visited the jail to ascertain if such was the case, but found that Jackson was just plain Jackson and nobody else.

Among the persons that saw Jackson yesterday was Frank Gates, employed with the local Metropolitan Insurance company, but resides in Rushville. Mr. Gates stated that he has known Bates for several years, and when he read the article in the Courier Saturday morning stating that the man now confined in the jail might be the man Rushville citizens have been searching for for the past week, he visited the place to satisfy his own curiosity. Mr. Gates said that while Jackson resembled Bates somewhat, yet he was not the man.

When officer Frazier arrested the man now in jail, he gave him the name as James Jackson, but at his trial last Wednesday morning he told the court his name was James Cox, and he was slated as such.

CODFISH SERVED IN RARE STYLE

At Men's Big Meeting Yesterday in the Christian Church by Yeuell.

EXCELLENT MUSICAL NUMBERS

Related Many Amusing Incidents to Illustrate Points in His Lecture.

"Fifty years ago it would have been impossible to gather together such a crowd as this," said Evangelist Yeuell at the Men's Big Meeting in the Main Street Christian church yesterday afternoon in his lecture on "Codfish." And for that reason I believe that the church of Christ is not any more so much a church for women and children, but is becoming every day more and more a man's church. Religion within the last century has been made practical and it has become popular for a man to be a Christian and for this reason the type known as a hypocrite has been developed. A man seeing that it is popular to be a Christian, has lived a double life. The wife may think that she knows her husband, but there are many cases when she is mistaken."

The evangelist related an incident in the life of a young married couple, who wanted to get one day of city hotel life in their honeymoon trip. They went down to breakfast and were simply amazed by the grandeur of the furnishing of the room and the numerous waiters standing about. Their meal was served to them and the groom, who was very hungry, immediately picked up a large codfish ball and put the whole thing into his mouth. Not enjoying the taste of the dainty morsel, he took his handkerchief and removed it from his mouth. He turned to his young wife and said, "Mary, the proprietor of this hotel is a very decent fellow, but don't eat any of that, because there is something dead about it." Such is the case with the hypocrite, said the lecturer, there is something dead about him.

"There are many men who have not the mind for religion," said Mr. Yeuell. "Many doctors and lawyers and other professional men who work out the great problems of their profession find it impossible to understand religion." The speaker made several sarcastic remarks about the feminine ministers of today who deliver a short sermon in high sounding terms once a week, and that is the extent of their work. But the christian religion is becoming more masculine every day, said the evangelist, and the man of strength and strong moral conviction are the ones who are taking up the profession. "It is conviction that makes the man strong. It is conviction that makes the man decide for Jesus Christ. It is conviction that brings about the great religious upheavals."

The lecturer closed his excellent address with a true story from the Civil war, which he illustrated by reciting the words to the song "You're a Grand Old Flag" that made every true citizen in the audience throb with patriotism.

The largest audience that has ever been in attendance at the Men's Big Meeting here this winter, heard the popular lecture by Yeuell. The musical selection rendered by the quartet composed of Mrs. W. R. McDaniel, Edith Holden, Jesse Pugh and B. F. Miller, received rounds of applause from the audience. The solo work of Elsworth Rogers and the music by the orchestra deserve creditable mention.

CHAPTER XI.

ON THE TRAIL OF THE "INSIDERS."

COLONEL J. D. TELFER (J. D. standing for Jefferson Davis, he explained proudly to Haines) proved a warm advocate of the doubtful merits of Gulf City as a hundred million dollar naval base. His flushed face grew redder, his long white hair became disordered, and he tugged at his white mustache continually as he waxed warmer in his efforts to impress the senator's secretary.

"I tell you, Mr. Haines, Gulf City, sah, leads all the south when it comes to choosin' ground fo' a naval base. Her vast expanse of crystal sea, her miles upon miles of silv'ly sands, sah, protected by a natural harbor and th' islands of Mississippi sound, make her th' only spot to be considered. She's God's own choice and the people's, too, for a naval base."

"But unfortunately congress also has something to say about choosing it," spoke Haines.

"To be shuah they do," said Gulf City's mayor, "but—"

"And there was a man here from Altacoola yesterday," again interrupted the secretary, "who said that Gulf City was fit only to be the state refuge for aged and indigent frogs."

"Say, they ain't a man in Altacoola wot can speak th' truth," indignantly shrieked the old colonel, almost losing control of himself, "because his heads is always a-buzzin' and a-hummin' from th' quinine they have to take to keep the fever away, sah."

"Congress has something to say!"

pered to the secretary:

"Mah young friend, don't let Senator Langdon get switched away from Gulf City by them cheap skates from Altacoola. Now, if you'll get th' senator to vote fo' Gulf City we'll see—I'll see, sah, as an officer of th' Gulf City Lan' company—that you get taken ca-ah of."

Haines' eyes opened wide. "Go on, colonel; go on with your offer," he said.

"Well, I'll see that a block of stock, sah—a big block—is set aside fo' Senator Langdon an' another fo' you too. We've made this ah-arrangement else-where. We'll outbid Altacoola everah time. They're po' sports an' hate to give up."

"So Altacoola is bidding, too?" excitedly asked Haines.

"Why, of co'se it is. Ah yo' as blind as that o' ah yo' foolin' with me?" questioned Telfer suspiciously. "Seems to me yo' ought to know more about that end of it than a fellah clear from th' gulf."

"Certainly, certainly," mumbled Haines impatiently as he endeavored to associate coherently, intelligently, in his mind these startling new revelations of Telfer with certain incidents he had previously noted in the operations of the committee on naval affairs.

Then he looked across at the mayor and smiled. Apparently he had heard nothing to amaze him.

"Colonel," he returned calmly, dropping into a voice that sounded of pity for the gray hairs of the lobbyist, "about fifty men a day come to me with propositions like that. There is nothing doing, colonel. I couldn't possibly interest Senator Langdon, because he has the faculty of judging for himself, and he would be prejudiced against either town that came out with such a proposition."

"Lan' speculation is legitimate," protested the colonel cunningly.

Haines agreed. "Certainly—by outsiders. But it's d—d thievery when engaged in by any one connected with putting a bill through. If I were to tell Senator Langdon what you have told me it would decide him unalterably in favor of Altacoola. Senator Langdon, sir, is one of the few men in Washington who would rather be thought a fool than a grafter if it came down to that."

The mayor of Gulf City jumped to his feet, his face blazing in rage, not in shame.

"Seems to me yo're mighty fresh, young man," he blustered. "What kind of politics is Langdon playin'?"

"Not fresh, colonel; only friendly. I'm just tipping you off how not to be a friend to Altacoola. As to his politics, the senator will answer you himself."

A scornful laugh accompanied Telfer's reply.

"Altacoola, huh! I reckon yo' must be a fool, after all. Why, everybody knows of the speculatin' in land around Altacoola, and everybody knows it ain't outsiders that's doin' it. It's the insiders, right here in Washington. If yo' ain't in, yo' can easy get a latched key. Young man, yo'll find out things some day, and yo'll drop to it all."

"I guess I was too late with yo'. That's about the size of it. I guess Altacoola 'll talk to yo'," went on the mayor. "If that feller Fairbrother of Altacoola had been able to hold his tongue maybe I wouldn't know so much. But now I know what's what. I know this—that yo're either a big fool or an insider. Yo're a nice young feller. I have kind-a taken a fancy to yo'. I like to see yo' young fellers get along and not miss yo'r chances. Come, my boy, get wise to yo'rself, get wise to yo'rself! Climb on to the band wagon with yo' friends."

Bud concluded that he might be able to get more definite information out of Telfer if he humored him a bit.

"I tell you, colonel," he finally said, "these are pretty grave charges yo're making, but I'll tell you confidentially, owing to your liking for me, that it is not yet too late to do something for Gulf City. Now, just suppose you and I dine together tonight early, and we'll go over the whole ground to see how things lie. Will you?"

The colonel held out his hand, smiling broadly. He felt that at last he had won the secretary over; that the young man was at heart anxious to take money for his influence with the senator.

"All right, my boy, yo're on. We'll dine together. Yo're absolutely certain that it won't be too late to get to Senator Langdon?"

"Get wise to yo'rself! Get wise!"

"Absolutely positive. I wouldn't make a mistake in a matter like this, would I, unless I was what you said I was—a fool?"

"Of course not. Oh, yo're a slick one. I like to do business with folks like yo'. It's mighty educatin'!"

"Thanks," answered Bud dryly. "It's certain that Langdon won't decide which place he's for until tomorrow. I promise you that he won't decide until after I have my talk with you."

"Yo' see," said Telfer, "I asked that question because, as yo' probably know, Congressman Norton and his crowd is pretty close to Senator Langdon."

Haines cut him short with a gasp of surprise.

"Norton?" Telfer, wrinkling his forehead incredulously, looked at Haines. "Surest thing you know, my boy."

Bud turned his head away in thought. "Oh, leave the Norton outfit to me, I'll fool them," he finally said.

"Good." Telfer shook the secretary's hand heartily.

"Yo're no fool, my boy. Anybody can see that—after they get to know yo' all. That's what comes of bein' one of them smooth New Yorkers. They 'pear mighty sanctimonious on th' outside, but on th' inside they're the real goods, all right."

The lobbyist hurried away, his bibulous soul swelling with satisfaction. He was sure of triumphing over Altacoola, and he was willing to pay the price.

Haines sank into his chair. "I wonder what Washington 'insiders,'" he murmured, "are speculating in Altacoola land. Telfer mentions Norton's name. I wonder—"

The door opened, and before him stood Carolina Langdon.

"Ah, Miss Langdon," he exclaimed. "I am glad to see you!"

She walked to him and extended cordially a slender gloved hand.

"This is a real pleasure, Mr. Haines," she began. "I've been waiting to talk to you for some time. It's about something important."

"Something important," smiled Haines. "You want to see me about something important? Well, let me tell you a secret. Every time I see you it is an important occasion to me."

Carolina Langdon had never appeared more charming, more beautiful to young Haines than she did that day. Perhaps she appeared more inspiring because of the contrast her presence afforded to the unpleasant episodes through which he had just passed; also Carolina was dressed in her most becoming street gown, which she well realized, as she was enacting a carefully planned part with the unfortunate secretary.

His frankness and the sincere admiration that shone in his eyes caused her to falter momentarily, almost made her weaken in her purpose, but she made an effort and secured a firmer grip on herself, for she must play a role that would crush to earth the air castle this young secretary was building, a role that would crush the ideals of this young optimist as well.

GERMS IN HER SYSTEM

Every Woman Should Read This.

The number of diseases peculiar to woman is such that we believe this space would hardly contain a mere mention of their names, and it is a fact that most of these diseases are of a catarrhal nature. A woman cannot be well if there is a trace of the catarrhal germs in her system.

Some women think there is no help for them. We positively declare this to be a mistaken idea. We are so sure of this that we offer to supply medicine absolutely free of all cost in every instance where it fails to give entire satisfaction or does not substantiate our claims. With this understanding, no woman should hesitate to believe our honesty of purpose, or hesitate to put our claim to a test.

There is only one way to cure Catarrh. That way is through the blood. You can use all the snuff, douches or like remedies for years without getting more than temporary relief at best. Catarrh is caused by a germ. That germ is carried by the blood of the innermost part of the system until the mucous membrane is broken, irritation and inflammation produced, and a flow of mucous results, and you can probably realize how silly it is to attempt to cure such an ailment unless you take a medicine that follows the same course as the germ or parasite.

Rexall Mucuo-Tone is scientifically prepared from the prescription of an eminent physician who for thirty years made his specialty Catarrh, and with this medicine he averaged 98% of cures where it was employed. No other remedy is so properly designed for the ailments of women.

It will purify and enrich the blood, stop mucous discharge, destroy all germ matter, remove all impurities from the system, soothe, heal and strengthen the mucous tissues, and bring about a good feeling of health and strength.

We want you to try Rexall Mucuo-Tone on our guarantee. If you are not benefitted, or for any reason not satisfied, simply tell us and we will hand back your money. Rexall Mucuo-Tone comes in two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Lytle's Drug Store, Third and Main streets.

HOPKINS HOLDS TO ORIGINAL RESOLVE

Seeks to Convince Opponents of His Firm Position.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 1.—Unless the members of the Forty-sixth general assembly come together soon, it is the general expectation in Springfield that the senatorial deadlock will continue with little change throughout the week. New candidates may be entered in the lists, but the decisive selection of anyone for the position of junior senator from Illinois is still considered to be in the dim future.

Governor Deneen has returned from Chicago, where he had been in conference with the chiefs of the Hopkins forces, but has thrown no light on the outcome of the situation.

A caucus of the members of the general assembly is still under consideration. Should such a plan be followed, it is the opinion of the leaders of the administration forces that the initiative would have to come from the assemblymen themselves.

The Hopkins forces, it is said, have determined to defy the opposition to its worst during the next fortnight, with the idea of convincing them of the hopelessness of defeating the present junior senator.

NO FAULT TO FIND

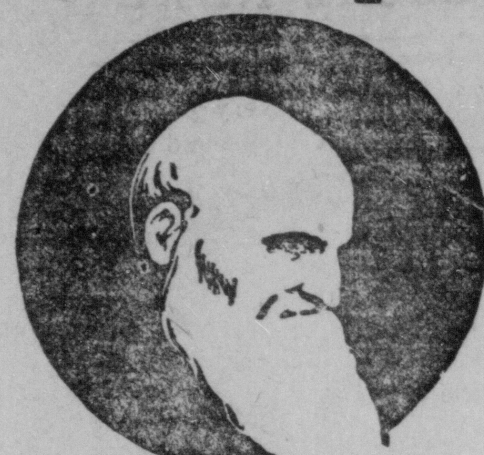

Mr. Taft's Engineers Refute Criticisms Made at Gatun Dam.

Panama, Feb. 1.—The engineers who accompanied President Elect Taft to the Isthmus and who have been examining the canal construction, spent Sunday at Gatun with the chief engineer of the canal, Lieutenant Colonel Goethals. They had no fault to find with the natural foundations for the dam, and they regarded the plans for safeguarding the dam as being complete. They will make a report to President Roosevelt, and it is understood will refute the criticisms that have been made with regard to the dam and its construction. They are inspecting Culebra cut today. It is understood the present canal plans will be approved throughout by the engineers in their report.

BULLET FINDS WOMAN'S HEART

Revolver in the Hands of Brother of Chicago's Mayor.

ACCIDENTALLY DISCHARGED

While Showing His Housemaid How to Employ a Gun in Case of Burglars George Busse Became the Unwitting Cause of Death of a Woman in a Neighboring Apartment—Bullet Sped Through Two Windows and Struck Mrs. Tuckerman, Who Was Visiting Her Father, a Retired Army Officer—No Arrests in the Case.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—George Busse, brother of Fred A. Busse, mayor of Chicago, Sunday night accidentally shot and killed Mrs. L. C. Tuckerman, thirty-two years old, wife of a fruit dealer at Milton, N. Y. The bullet struck Mrs. Tuckerman in the heart and she died instantly. The shooting occurred in the Walton apartment building at 305 North Clark street. Mrs. Tuckerman was visiting her father, Brigadier General A. C. Girard, retired, who occupies an apartment in the building. Shortly before 7 o'clock George Busse, in his apartment across an area-way, was demonstrating the use of a revolver to Miss Bertha Lambke, his housemaid, so that she could employ the weapon in case of burglars. Suddenly the revolver was discharged and the bullet went through two windows, and, crossing the area-way into the Girard apartment, pierced Mrs. Tuckerman's heart. Mayor Busse was present at the shooting and as soon as he learned of the fatal consequences, notified the police.

Mrs. Tuckerman was in a bedroom, dressing. When struck by the bullet she staggered into a hallway. General Girard and Mrs. Tuckerman's five-year-old son Alfred rushed from an adjoining room. "Oh, father! I have been shot, and I'm dying," said Mrs. Tuckerman, and expired. A moment later there was a loud pounding at the door of the Girard apartment and Mayor Busse and his brother George came in. Mayor Busse's wife and his mother followed. The mayor summoned a physician and notified the police by telephone, but the woman died before the physician arrived. No arrests were made. General Girard expressing himself as satisfied that the shooting was purely accidental.

THE MERCHANT MARINE

To Be Given a Boost in Conference at New York Tonight.

New York, Feb. 1.—The first of five meetings to be devoted to the advancement of the interests of the American merchant marine will be held tonight in the Metropolitan temple, this city, of which the Rev. John Wesley Hill is pastor. The meetings are to be held under the auspices of the National Merchant Marine league.

Letters from President Roosevelt, and President Eliot Taft commending the purpose of the meetings, which is the stimulation of public interest in the growth of the merchant marine will be read. Among the prominent men who will take part in the conferences are the Hon. James E. McCleary, representative from Minnesota; John Barrett, director of the bureau of American republics; Henry Clews, Leslie M. Shaw, John J. McCook and Myron T. Herrick. One purpose of the conferences is the advocacy of legislation compelling the carrying of American mail to Europe and elsewhere in American ships. The members of the league generally favor the ship subsidy plan.

The pastor of the temple is in favor of the mixture of politics and economics with religion, with a view to the uplifting of the former. With that end in view he has invited the promoters of meetings of public interest to hold them in the temple.

Local sports are greatly interested in seeing Mahmout perform, as he has championship aspirations and is said to be anxious to meet Frank Gotch, the world's champion. He has pinned down Jenkins, Pardello and other good men. De Rouen also has a good record, although his recent defeat by Westergaard at Omaha has cost him some of his fame.

Half Million Blaze in Mexico.

The Fourth Presbyterian church at Indianapolis was damaged by fire Sunday to the extent of $10,000.

The meeting will be held under the auspices of the People's Institute and the Equality League for Self-Supporting Women. INDIANA POLITICS

By Robert G. Tucker.

Indianapolis, Feb. 1.—Representative Chrisney of Spencer county is posing as one of the leaders of the house Democrats who are opposed to the Kleckner bill repealing the county local option law and substituting the ward and township unit. His attitude was a surprise to the First district members, who thought that their delegation would stand for the platform. Chrisney, however, is said to have been very emphatic at the caucus of the Democrats at which efforts were made to line up on the Kleckner bill. Representative Sweeney of Perry county, who was defeated for the caucus chairmanship of the house, is regarded as the leader of the Democrats who are in the open for the Kleckner bill. He is taking his defeat by Representative Harry Strickland good-naturedly. The contest between them was of a friendly nature. At this time the indications are that the county local option law will not be repealed and that the Anti-Saloon League may try to put through a state-wide prohibition measure as a very early date.

Governor Marshall, it is said has informed Judge William J. Wood of Evansville that he will not reappoint him as a member of the state railroad commission. Judge Wood was appointed by Governor Hanly as a Democratic member immediately after the commission was created four years ago. He was a railroad man as well as an attorney, and has been regarded as one of the most valuable members of the commission. He is a receptive candidate for reappointment, and was recently endorsed by the State Retail Merchants' association. It has been the understanding here that Governor Hanly appointed Judge Wood on the recommendation of Senator James A. Hemenway. So far as is known, Governor Marshall has no objection to Judge Wood on account of his services as commissioner, but he wants to carry out his campaign promise to appoint a practical railroad man as a member of the commission. Over a score of railroad men are applicants for the place, but it is not known who will be appointed. Governor Marshall's plans may depend on the fate of the public utility bills that are now being considered. It is proposed in these measures that the railroad commission shall be succeeded by a public utilities commission of five members, and it is not likely that the governor will take any steps toward appointing Judge Wood's successor until he learns definitely what the legislature will do.

Judge Wood's position is the first big political plum that Governor Marshall will have to hand out, as it pays $4,000 a year. That he intends to make good his promise to appoint a railroad man to the commission was made known recently to the friends of Stokes Jackson, chairman of the Democratic state committee, who urged the governor to name him as Judge Wood's successor. Chairman Jackson and Gilbert Hendren, chairman of the Democratic speakers' bureau, are rivals for a place on the state board of tax commissioners to succeed Parks H. Martin, Democrat, who has served for ten years. Martin's term expires in March. Hendren and Jackson are spending much time here and their friends are seeing the governor at every opportunity on their behalf. Representative McAvo of Grant county, is here boosting himself for state oil inspector, but there will be no vacancy for two years unless the legislature reorganizes the department. Word is given out that Governor Marshall will not make any appointments until after the legislature has adjourned.

Lieutenant Governor Hall has spoken his mind to the lobbyists who have been thick about the senate, where he presides. He warned them to stay off the floor, which he declared should be reserved for the exclusive use of the senators and senate employees. Over in the house Speaker Honan had previously caused the exclusion of certain lobbyists who had made themselves offensive.

MAY DRAG ROOT INTO THE CASE

Intimation That Secretary of State Is Complainant.

LIBEL SUIT TAKES NEW TURN

For the First Time the Government

Gives an Intimation That It May Allege That Mr. Root Is the Person Libeled in the World Article Complainant of in Sensational Suit—Federal Attorney in Charge of Case Tells Jerome to Go Ahead With His Contemplated Local Action Under New York State Laws.

New York, Feb. 1.—Henry L. Stimson, United States district attorney for the southern district of New York, has made public a letter in reply to one written by District Attorney Jerome on the subject of beginning an action for criminal libel in the state courts against the publishers of the New York World, because of published charges regarding the Panama canal purchase. Mr. Stimson tells Mr. Jerome to go ahead and assures him "that such action on your part will in no wise be regarded as an interference, but, on the contrary we shall regard it as our duty to co-operate with you in all proper and lawful ways."

Mr. Jerome had asked if action in the state courts on behalf of Douglas Robinson, the president's brother-in-law, who is a resident of the city and who was mentioned in the article, would be an unwelcome interference with the actions begun under federal jurisdiction.

Mr. Stimson answers this question negatively, but he does not state that the federal inquiries or prosecutions will cease in the event Mr. Jerome begins an action. It is apparent from the wording of the letter that while the federal authorities concede to Mr. Jerome the right to appear as the protector of Douglas Robinson's good name, they reserve to themselves the privilege of acting in defense of the reputation of "a gentleman who occupied the position of head of the war department," in any federal jurisdiction where the case applies.

The reference to the "gentleman who occupied the position of head of the war department" gave rise in some quarters to speculation as to the person meant by Mr. Stimson. An official of the government, who declined to permit the use of his name, said the statement was intended to refer to Elihu Root, who was secretary of war when negotiations for the purchase of the Panama canal property was concluded, though deeds of the property were actually turned over to this country when William H. Taft was secretary.

EDITOR HURT BY TRAIN

W. L. Woodson of the American Press Association Injured in Yonkers, N. Y.

Yonkers, N. Y., Feb. 1.—Trying to board a train at the Glenwood station of the New York Central, William L. Woodson, editor of the American Press, fell and was injured by the moving wheels. His right foot was amputated at the station, and at St. Johns Riverside hospital, to which he was taken, it was found that an amputation of the leg below the knee was necessary. He was badly hurt about the head and sustained other injuries. He displayed wonderful fortitude which the physicians say will materially assist him in recovering from the effects of his injuries.

Mr. Woodson's paper, the American Press, is issued from the main office of the American Press Association in New York. He has been connected with the association for many years, coming to the main office from the Atlanta branch, of which he was manager. Mr. Woodson was formerly one of the best-known newspaper men of the south. He is a native of Virginia, but lived also in Georgia and other southern states.

NOT A CLUE OBTAINED

Ocean Graveyard Has Another Tragical Mystery.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 1.—Hidden beneath the turbulent waves that roll over Diamond Shoals, fourteen miles off Cape Hatteras, N. C., the secret of the identity of the mysterious steamer which went down there early Saturday probably with all on board, remains untold.

No clue to corroborate the testimony of the few aboard the Diamond Shoals lightship, who witnessed, helpless to aid, this latest tragedy of the well-named "graveyard of the Atlantic," has been obtained. Not a single piece of wreckage has been detected either on shore or on the ocean, and it may be several days before anything is discovered.

THE LIQUOR FORCES SHOW THEIR HAND

Local Attorney Presented Affidavit For Injunction to Judge Sparks And Was Refused.

SAID APPROPRIATION ILLEGAL

The liquor forces in Rush county, in which the county local option movement was started some time ago says the Shelbyville Republican, have shown their hand in the present fight between the two forces.

Donald Smith, an attorney of that city, came here last night with an affidavit for an injunction to prevent the county council from appropriating county funds with which to hold a county local option election. He claimed it would be illegal to make an appropriation.

He presented the matter before Judge Will M. Sparks and the judge refused to issue the injunction on the grounds that the reason was not sufficient in his opinion.
